This certificate is part of the Social and Human Services A.S. degree program.

An Aging Services Specialist works under the direct supervision of social workers, psychologists, sociologists, and other professionals.

This College Credit Certificate Program is designed to be the first educational step to a professional career in Social and Human Services with an emphasis in the area of aging.

It will provide credit course work for those employed in human service agencies as well supplemental education for those already working in the field. It will provide credit course work for those employed in aging service occupations as well as those who seek to enter the profession without experience.

This certificate program provides academic coursework specifically related to issues with aging as well as a three-credit practicum where students gain fieldwork experience. Credits earned in this certificate also apply to the Associates Degree \(A.S.\) in Social and Human Services. Visit the program page for more details and how to apply.
